

Krieghoff's classic Semprio rifle features its Combi-Cocking Device.

Combi-Cocking Device

The regular range of Krieghoff hunting guns all feature a Combi-Cocking Device. This combines the advantages of manual cocking and self-cocking. While manual cocking gives the hunter the ultimate in safety – an uncocked gun is a safe gun – self-cocking means you can fire immediately after reloading and closing the gun. Krieghoff combines both systems in a unique way. This Combi-Cocking Device is the heart and soul of the current Krieghoff hunting range, which includes combination guns, double rifles, single-shot rifles and a unique inline repeating rifle.

The Classic side-by-side double rifle is Krieghoff's best-selling hunting gun. Two independent locks make it function as if it were two single-shot rifles welded together. Available in standard calibres up to .500 Nitro Express, these rifles are loved for driven hunts in Europe as well as for big-game hunting in Africa. Cooperating with African professional hunter associations such as PHASA and BASA, the Classic Big Five double rifle is the weapon of choice for many professional hunters.

The Hubertus single-shot rifle is a lightweight and sturdy favourite for stalkers and mountain hunters worldwide.

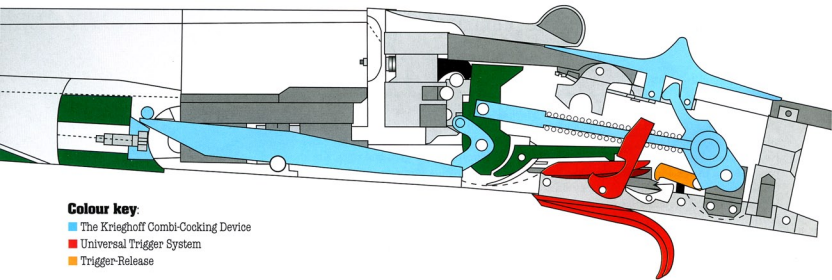

The Ultra 20 over-and-under combination gun offers a wide array of configurations, including a shotgun and rifle barrel combination, two calibre rifle and rifle Bergstutzen combination and a double rifle.

The Optima 12 and 20 drilling combination guns feature a two shotgun and one rifle barrel or a two rifle and one shotgun barrel configuration. There even is a Big Five version of the Optima, featuring two barrels in calibres up to .470 Nitro Express and a 20-gauge shotgun barrel.

The Semprio inline repeating rifle is the newest member of the Krieghoff family. Recently launched after four years of research, this rifle offers extremely fast repeating, an easy take-down possibility and even the possibility to change barrels and calibres.

The Semprio proves yet again the innovative abilities of the Krieghoff craftsmen.

Sporting guns like the K80 are what gave Krieghoff a legendary name.

Legendary sporting guns

While Krieghoff made a name for itself through the ages with the production of hunting guns, the sporting guns really made the Krieghoff name legendary. For a shooter, simply mentioning shooting a K-80 is enough for the sport-shooting world to know he shoots one of the very best guns on the planet. Built like a tank, the K-80 and K-20 sporting guns are as tough as nails. Some of these guns have already shot over one million rounds without even flinching. Superbly flexible, the K-80 line-up offers a host of options and add-ons. These sporting guns are the shooting equivalent of a Mercedes S-Class saloon: big, German, innovative, durable and reliable. This actually sums up the whole philosophy of Krieghoff too. GTW
